

How to Submit an Abstract

Start by clicking on the
"Submit and Abstract Here"

+ KEY DATES

---

✗ AUTHOR INFORMATION

All abstract, workshop, and paper submissions will be handled using EDAS.

Abstracts
SUBMIT AN ABSTRACT HERE

The abstract should address the following four topics.

Motivation - Why
Provide context for the work and reasons it is important.

Focus of this Work - What
Write a short statement of the specific focus of the work presented.

Methodology - How
Describe the methodology used to approach the problem of interest. If the focus of your work is on designing a system, this section frequently focuses on your design ("how" the focus of the work is addressed).

Then log in to EDAS.

Create an account if necessary.

information include the abstract.

If copying and pasting,
it is ideal to do so from a text file so as to avoid things like smart quotation marks which are sometimes misinterpreted by the system.

Keyword 2 (optional)

Keyword 3 (optional)

Type in your abstract here!

Focus on
WHY - this work is important
WHAT - this work focuses on
HOW - you actually did this work - the meat of the work itself
RESULTS - what are the findings/learnings from this work

*Paper abstract (between 100 and 500 words)

After entering your paper information, hit Submit.

Topics (choose between 0 and 3)

- optimization
- simulation
- systems integration
- systems design
- statistical modeling
- machine learning
- process improvement
- risk analysis
- public policy
- economic systems
- healthcare systems
- environmental systems (e.g. water, energy, LCA, etc.)
- information systems
- decision analysis
- human factors
- stochastic modeling

Added co-authors will be notified via email. If they are already in the EDAS system, you'll be able to select the person from a list. If not, the person will get an email alerting them that an account has been created and they have been added to a paper. That email will also provide instructions for setting up a password)

Note: For accepted abstracts, every author has to pay the registration fees to attend SIEDS 2021. These fees are low compared to most conferences- only $50 per author. The goal is to have everyone, not just the one author who might typically register, be able to attend.
